KIRK-GREENE AFRICAN TRAVEL FUND

Travel funds are available to Clare students who wish to pursue research in sub-Saharan Africa as part of an undergraduate or postgraduate degree. The award is open to those studying History, Social & Political Science, International Relations and Anthropology.

A sum of up to £500 is available this year. It may be divided between more than one applicant.

Applicants should submit a CV, a 200 word description of their research and travel plans, a recommendation from their supervisor or Director of Studies, and a breakdown of the costs. They should also specify any other awards received, or applications made, for the same purpose.

Applications should be submitted to the Financial Tutor, Dr Parker, by the Friday of the penultimate week of Lent Full Term, for travel commencing in the same calendar year.
